

Team Fatheadz

- This past month, the team has really put the time and effort into finishing up this project.
- To get more work done on the car, our team has been splitting off into groups of two.
- As of today, February 28th we are finishing up the final phases of the car.

Currently in Class...

- Currently we are in the process of wiring the car as shown in the picture.
- We are also working on the front bumper design along with the gas and braking system.
- Most of the back end design is complete, we are waiting on the final plates to be welded into place.

Things to come...

- Once the car is fully assembled, we plan on taking everything back off.
- We are then sending the frame for some final welds and for a new paint job.
- The body is also being sent off to Frame Works Marketing Group to be wrapped in vinyl.
- When the car returns, we will start our final assembly and begin testing.
